COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

This embraces a thorough course of study in Book Keeping, both by Single and Double Entry, in its application to Wholesale and Retail Merchandising, Commission, Rail-Roading, Banking, &c.; also Parson's Laws of Business.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations occur at the close of the Winter and Summer Terms.

Students are required, at the end of each month, to pass a written examination on the advancement made in studies during that period. No student either wishing to enter the school, or afterward, is allowed to enter any Grade or Department, who cannot pass a satisfactory examination, on the preceding studies of the course.

LECTURES.

Lectures are delivered on Literary and Scientific subjects. Those on Natural Science are illustrated by experiments with Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus when the subject requires them.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The Grammar and Philosophical each have a Literary Society connected with them.

GOVERNMENT.

The Discipline of the school is intended to be mild and firm. As far as possible students are taught to govern themselves. A regular record is kept of the deportment of each student, a copy of which will be furnished to parents and guardians when desired. Those whose influence is injurious to the school will not be retained for a second term, and whenever circumstances require, they will be dismissed.

GENERAL ITEMS.

This School is under the control of the Society of Friends, and Students will be required to comply with the Teachers to attend meeting for Divine Worship in the middle of each week. They are also expected to attend at some place of worship on the First Day of the week. Scripture recitations are required of all the School, and each student should be provided with a Bible. Students are required to observe regular hours for study during the evening.

☞ Penmanship taught on scientific principles.

Students, who complete either of the prescribed courses of study, will be entitled to a Diploma signed by the Instructors and the Clerk of the Committee having the school in charge.

☞ Text books and stationery are kept in the School, and furnished to students at reduced prices.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations occur at the close of the Winter and Summer Terms.

Students are required also, at the end of each month, to pass a written examination in the advancement made in studies during the period. No student, either when first entering the school, or afterwards, is allowed to enter any Grade or Department, who can not pass a satisfactory examination on the preceding studies of the course.

LECTURES.

Lectures are given frequently on Literary and Scientific subjects. Those on Natural Science are illustrated by experiments with Chemical and Philosophical Apparatus, when the subject requires them.

LITERARY SOCIETY.

The High School has a Literary Society connected with it. The Students of the other Departments receive instruction, weekly, in English Composition.

GOVERNMENT.

The Discipline of the school is intended to be mild and firm. As far as possible students are taught to govern themselves, and Love's true influences for good are brought to bear upon the proper development of character. A regular record is kept of the deportment of each student, a copy of which will be furnished to parents and guardians when desired. Those, whose influence is injurious to the school will not be admitted a second time, and whenever circumstances require it they will be dismissed.

GENERAL ITEMS.

This School is under the control of the Society of Friends; and Students will be required in company with the Teachers to attend meeting for Divine Worship in the middle of each week. They are also expected to attend at some place of worship on the First Day of the Week. Scripture recitations are required of all the School, and each student should be provided with a Bible. Students are required to observe regular hours for study during the evening.

LIBRARY.

In the School is a small but valuable Library of standard works to which students have access on the payment of a small sum yearly.

VACATIONS.

There will be a vacation of two weeks following the close of the Winter Term; and one of ten weeks following the close of the academic year.

RATES OF TUITION.

Ten per cent. interest will be charged, hereafter, on all accounts not settled within thirty days after they are due.

N. B.—Attention is specially directed to the above regulations, as strict adherence to them is expected.

REMARKS UPON THE COURSE OF STUDY.

Much care has been taken in arranging a course of study so as to provide for those who wish to prepare for College, as well as for those who do not anticipate the completion of more than an ordinary course. It will be noticed that in Literature and Natural Science, the course is but little shorter than that laid down in most colleges, while a sufficient amount of Mathematics and Latin has been retained to afford good mental discipline, and also to meet most of the practical demands of a business life. Opportunity will be afforded to pursue those studies further whenever class is sufficiently large can be formed.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations occur at the close of the 2d and 3d Terms. Students are frequently required to pass written examinations on the advancement made during previous portions of the Term. No student, either when first entering school, or at any time, will be allowed to enter any Grade or Department who can not pass a satisfactory examination on the preceding studies of the course.

LECTURES.

Lectures are given frequently on literary and scientific subjects. Those on Natural Science are illustrated by experiments with chemical and philosophical apparatus when the subject requires them.

The Lecture Association, formed by the citizens, furnishes opportunity for hearing some of the most distinguished lecturers of the United States. Anna E. Dickinson is among those engaged for the coming winter.

LIBRARY.

There is a valuable library of several hundred volumes in connection with the school, to which students have access upon the payment of a very small fee. Two thousand dollars have been subscribed by the citizens of the vicinity for the purpose of increasing the library, five hundred dollars of which will be expended the ensuing year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding the past year has ranged from $3.00 to $3.25 per week. There is a boarding-house near the school, the rooms of which will be rented to young women who wish to board themselves. To these, the cost need not exceed $1.50 or $2.00 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs and a table are provided for each room, the occupants furnishing such other articles as they may need. The proprietors of the building or the Principal of the school will attend to furnishing wood and provisions when it is desired. There are some rooms in the village which can be rented by young men desirous of boarding themselves. The boarding house will be under the care of competent Superintendents.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The school is under the care of the Society of Friends, and students will be expected to attend their Sabbath School and meeting for worship, unless they attend those of some other denomination. Each student should be furnished with a Bible.

Students are required to observe study hours during the evening. Evening parties and late hours strictly prohibited. A majority of those taking boarders have agreed to assist the Principal in carrying these regulations into effect, so that parties from a distance who may place their children in this school, may rely upon having them under their watchful care and a home influence.

A gentleman who resides in the village owns an excellent Telescope with a four and a half inch Object Glass, and six feet focal distance; and arrangements have been made with him for classes in Astronomy to have the privilege of using the instrument.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student will be returned in the school whose influence is known to have a corrupting and immoral tendency.

LOCATION.

The school is situated in the village of SPICELAND, Henry county, Indiana, two and a half miles north of Coffin's Station, on the Columbus and Indianapolis Railroad. A hack meets the train twice each day. Mails are received daily.

The School is under the care of the following Committee, appointed by Spiceland Monthly Meeting:

SOLOMON MACY,	ALBERT NEWBY,
CALEB JOHNSON,	J. P. BOGUE.

ALBERT NEWBY, Clerk.

High School—2d and 3d Years	$1 00 per week.

CALENDAR FOR 1871 AND 1872.

The 1st Term begins 9th Mo. 4th, 1871.
The 1st Term ends 10th Mo. 6th, 1871. } In session 5 weeks.

The 2d Term begins 10th Mo. 9th, 1871. }
The 2d Terms ends 2d Mo. 25th, 1872. } In session 20 weeks.

Spring Vacation two weeks.

The 3d Term begins 3d Mo. 14th, 1872. }
The 3d Term ends 6th Mo. 24th, 1872. } In session 15 weeks.

In arranging the Course of the 1st and 2d Terms are considered as forming but one session, and students who wish to advance with their classes will find it highly important to begin at the opening of the First Term. Students will be received at any time, when the school is not full, and tuition will be charged from the time of entering until the close of the Term.

No deduction will be made for absence except in cases of protracted sickness. Prompt payment is expected,—by strangers in advance;—by resident citizens, at the close of the Term.

Ten per cent. interest will be charged, hereafter, on all accounts not settled within thirty days after they are due.

N. B.—Attention is especially directed to the above regulations, as strict adherence to them is expected.

REMARKS UPON THE COURSE OF STUDY.

Much care has been taken in arranging a course of study so as to provide for those who wish to prepare for College, as well as for those who do not anticipate the completion of more than an academic course. It will be noticed that in Literature and Natural Sciences the course is far more shorter than that laid down in most colleges, while a sufficient amount of Mathematics and Latin has been retained to afford good mental discipline, and also to meet most of the practical demands of a business life. Opportunity will be afforded to pursue those studies further whenever classes sufficiently large can be formed.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations occur at the close of the 2d and 3d Term. Students are frequently required to pass written examinations on the advancement made during previous portions of the Term.

No student, either when first entering school, or afterwards, will be allowed to enter any Grade or Department who can not pass a satisfactory examination on the preceding studies of the course.

LECTURES.

Lectures are given frequently on literary and scientific subjects. Those on Natural Science are illustrated by experiments with chemical and philosophical apparatus when the subject requires them.

LIBRARY.

There is a valuable library of several hundred volumes in connection with the school, to which students have access upon the payment of a very small fee. Two thousand dollars have been subscribed by the citizens of the vicinity, for the purpose of increasing the library, five hundred dollars of which will be expended the ensuing year.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

In addition to the Literary Exercises in the school, there are two permanent Literary Societies, one conducted by the young men, and the other by the young ladies of the Academy.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding the past year has ranged from $3 00 to $3 50 per week. There is a boarding house near the school, the rooms of which will be rented to young women who wish to board themselves. To these, the cost need not exceed $1 50 or $2 00 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs and a table are provided for each room, the occupants furnishing such other articles as they may need. The proprietor of the boarding or the Principal of the school will attend to furnishing wood and provisions when it is desired. There are some rooms in the village which can be rented by young men desirous of boarding themselves. The boarding house will be under the care of competent Superintendents.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The school is under the care of the Society of Friends, and students will be expected to attend their Sabbath School and meeting for worship, unless they attend those of some other denomination. Each student should be furnished with a Bible.

A gentleman who resides in the village owns an excellent Telescope with a four and a half inch Object Glass, and six feet focal distance, and arrangements have been made with him for classes in Astronomy to have the privilege of using the instrument.

Arrangements have been made for a new school house, which, it is hoped, will be completed in time for the Winter Term. Several additions will be made during the year to the apparatus now on hand.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student will be retained in the school whose influence is known to have a corrupting and immoral tendency.

LOCATION.

The school is situated in the village of SPICELAND, Henry county, Indiana, two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad. A hack meets the train twice each day. Mails are received daily.

The school is under the care of the following Committee, appointed by Spiceland Monthly Meeting:

CALENDAR FOR 1872 AND 1873.

The 1st Term begins 30th May, 1872.	In session 5 weeks.
The 1st Term ends 10th July, 1872.
The 2d Term begins 16th July, 1872.	In session 20 weeks.
The 2d Term ends 20th May, 1873.

SPRING VACATION, FIVE WEEKS.

The 3d Term begins 17th June, 1873.	In session 15 weeks.
The 3d Term ends 19th, 1873.

In arranging the Courses the 1st and 2d Terms are considered as forming but one session, and students who wish to advance with their classes will be highly commended to begin at the opening of the 1st Term. Students will be received at any time when vacancies occur, but tuition will be charged from the time of entering only, the close of the Term.

No deduction will be made for absence except in cases of protracted sickness. Punctuality is expected,—but strangers in advance;—by resident citizens, at the close of the Term.

Ten per cent. interest will be charged on accounts, and all accounts not settled within three months after the close of the Term.

N. B.—All letters, etc., should be addressed to the Principal, as above, to guard against mistakes.

REMARKS UPON THE COURSE OF STUDY.

Much care has been taken in the arrangement of the Courses of Study, to provide for those who desire a practical education, and for those who [illegible]. It does not, we think, require much argument to show that the former class will be more benefited by the Scientific Course than by the Classical. Very little stress is laid upon the study of Latin in the former course, the time and attention being devoted to the study of Modern Languages, Mathematics and Physical Science, which will be found of much more practical use in after life. Opportunity will be afforded for [illegible] every branch of study.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations will be held [illegible]. Students are [illegible] advancement in their respective classes. [illegible] expected to be present at these examinations. Parents and others are also invited to be present at the examinations.

INCORPORATION AND ENDOWMENT.

Measures have been taken to [illegible] the School. Trustees are appointed by the [illegible] the supervision of the Board. Efforts are being made to increase the Endowment Fund. Efforts are also being made to place the School upon a permanent and satisfactory footing.

LECTURES.

Lectures are given [illegible] subjects. The Town Council [illegible] Lectures, which are free to all. A Literary and Philosophical Association [illegible] Lectures during each year. A Lecture Association, consisting of [illegible] every week during the winter season. The Lectures are free to the public.

LIBRARY.

There is a valuable library [illegible] in connection with the school, to which [illegible] from the payment of a very small fee. New books [illegible] weeks.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

In addition to the Lectures [illegible] there are two permanent Literary Societies [illegible] the Academy. The others by the young [illegible]. A Debating Society has been started which already [illegible] A reading room will probably be [illegible] the ensuing year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding the past year has ranged from $3 00 to $3 50 per week. There is a boarding-house near the school, the rooms of which are rented to young women who wish to board themselves. To these, the cost need not exceed $1 50 or $2 00 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs and a table are provided for each room, the occupants furnishing such other articles as they may need. The proprietress of the building or the Principal of the school will attend to furnishing wood and provisions when it is desired. The house is under the care of competent Superintendents. Rooms can be rented in the village by students who wish to board themselves. For those who board in this way the average cost has been less than $1 25 per week. The club system of boarding has been successfully tried the past year. By this method the cost of living, including room rent, is from $1 00 to $1 50 per week. The whole expense of attending school one year, including tuition, need not exceed $125.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The school is under the care of the Society of Friends, and students are expected to attend their Sabbath School and meeting for worship, unless they attend those of some other denomination. Each student should be furnished with a Bible.

Students are required to observe study hours during the evening. Evening parties and late hours are strictly forbidden. A majority of those taking boarders have agreed to assist the Principal in carrying these regulations into effect, so that parties from a distance who may place their children in the school, may rely upon having them under watchful care and a home influence.

A gentleman who resides in the village owns an excellent Telescope with a four and a half inch Object Glass, and six feet focal distance, and arrangements have been made with him by classes in Astronomy to have the privilege of using the instrument.

A new school house has been recently erected, a laboratory opened and other improvements made, which add much to the efficiency of the school.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student will be retained in the school whose influence is known to have a corrupting and immoral tendency.

LOCATION.

The school is situated in the village of Spiceland, Henry County, Indiana, two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad. A hack meets the trains twice each day. Mails are received daily.

The school is under the care of the following Board of Trustees, appointed by Spiceland Monthly Meeting:

J. P. BOGUE, ASA C. DAVIS,
SOLOMON MACY, JESSE JORDON,
CALEB JOHNSON, CLARKSON DAVIS,
TIMOTHY WILSON. President of the Board.

Vacation one week.
The 3rd Term begins 3 mo., 30th, 1874. } in session 12 weeks.
The 3rd Term closes 6 mo., 20th, 1874.

Students will be received at any time when the school is not full, and tuition will be charged from the time of entering until the close of the term.

No deduction will be made for absence, except in cases of protracted sickness.

Rates of Tuition must be paid before entering school.

Books and Stationery, when furnished, must be paid for in cash.

The above regulations will be strictly observed.

Remarks upon the Course of Study.

Normal Classes will be formed for the first six weeks of the Autumn Term, in the Grammar School studies, for the benefit of those preparing to teach.

Normal Classes will also be formed for the same purpose in the Spring term.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public Examinations are held at the close of each term. Students are frequently required to pass written examinations on their studies.

No student will be allowed to enter any Grade or Department who cannot pass a satisfactory examination on the preceding studies of the course.

INCORPORATION AND ENDOWMENT.

The School has been [illegible] years chartered, and is managed by Trustees, who are appointed by the Society of Friends. An endowment fund of $[illegible] has been secured, well invested at interest, and measures have been taken to have it materially increased.

LECTURES.

Lectures are frequently given on Literary and Scientific subjects. Those on Natural Science are illustrated by experiments with Philosophical apparatus when the subject requires them.

A Lecture Association is active in an opportunity, each year, of hearing some of the most distinguished lecturers in the country.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, of nearly Two Thousand Volumes, to which additions are constantly being made.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies, to which two of the above Libraries belong. These Societies give exhibitions at the close of each term.

BOARDING.

The cost of Boarding ranges from $3.00 to $3.50 per week.

There is a Boarding House near the School, the rooms of which are rented to young women who wish to board themselves. Board need not cost them to exceed $1.50 or $2.00 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs and a table are provided for each room, the occupants furnishing such other articles as they may need. The Principal of the School will attend to furnishing wood and pony stove when it is desired. The house is under the care of competent superintendents.

Rooms can be rented in the village by students who wish to board themselves. For those who board in this way the average cost has been less than $1.25 per week.

The club system of boarding has been successful [illegible] the past two years. By this method the cost of living, including room rent, is from $1.60 to $[illegible] per week.

The whole expense of [illegible]ing school one year, including tuition, need not exceed $[illegible].

GENERAL ITEMS.

The School is under the care of the Society of Friends, and students are expected to attend their Sabbath School and Meeting for Worship unless they attend some other denomination. Each student should be furnished with a Bible.

Students are required to observe study hours during the evening.

Evening parties and late hours are strictly prohibited.

A majority of those having families have agreed to assist the Principal in enforcing these regulations; therefore, so that parties from a distance, who may place their children in this school may rely upon having them under watchful care and home influence.

Students in Astronomy can have a [illegible] to experiment. Telescope with a lens and one inch Object Glass and six feet focal distance.

Within the last year a Geological Cabinet has been added, and additions to it are frequent.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

No student will be retained in the school whose influence is known to have a corrupting and unimproving tendency.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete either course of study, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees, having the School in charge.

THE NEXT TERM

The Managers can assure the public that they have already engaged experienced Teachers for every department of the School.

LOCATION.

The School is situated in the village of Spiceland, Henry county, Indiana, two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad. A Hack meets the trains twice each day. Mails are received daily.

REMARKS ON THE COURSE OF STUDY.

Believing that a true education, which is a proper development of the mind, can only be obtained by diligent study and untiring industry, this institution will give thorough and systematic instruction in all of the departments. "No royal road to learning" or examining process will be used, and students will be classified according to what they know and not by what they may have studied, and none will be permitted to pass to the advanced classes until they shall have completed the preliminary work.

A completion of the Grammar School course will give students such proficiency as will enable them to proceed advantageously with the studies of the High School, and at the same time it is believed that they are well adapted to the wants of those who do not desire to enter on a more extended course of study. The High School course is full and comprehensive and little inferior to most colleges, and students completing it will be qualified to fill almost any position in life.

There are daily recitations in Latin throughout three years, and the number and variety of Latin and Greek selections from the ancient authors, including Cæsar, Virgil, Cicero, Xenophon, etc., are considered a sufficient foundation for a thorough classical scholarship.

The course in Chemistry includes qualitative analysis with actual work in the laboratory, and the classes in Chemistry and Natural Philosophy have access to a full line of chemical and philosophic apparatus; illustrations and experiments are performed before the class whenever the subject requires them. The study of astronomy and surveying, in addition to the text book, will include oral instruction on methods of calculations and observations, and a practical knowledge of the use of the instruments, such as the compass, theodolite, and telescope. It is the design to make the study of German of practical use to those who pursue it; particular attention is paid to a correct pronunciation, the grammar and idioms will be studied in connection with some text book, and will be followed by translations, compositions, and conversations, the language being used as far as possible during recitations.

ment of the human mind should avail himself of every opportunity for receiving that peculiar normal instruction which is designed to render his work in the school room most efficient. Teaching is no longer an occupation, but a profession; a profession which demands for its successful accomplishment as studied a preparation as that required for medicine, law or the ministry.

The work contemplated at the special normal term, which begins July 27, may be briefly outlined as follows: 1st, A review of all the more difficult points in each of the legal branches; 2d, A short course in the elements of the natural sciences, as usually pursued in the High Schools of the State; 3d, A course of professional instruction in which the science and art of Pedagogics will be presented and a discussion of all the minutiæ of school room work.

RATES OF TUITION.

High School—Second and third years,	$1 00 per week
Commercial Department,	1 00 per week
High School—First year,	85 per week
Grammar School,	75 per week
Intermediate Department,	60 per week
Primary Department,	40 per week
Normal Institute,	5 00 per term

Students will be received at any time when the school is not full, and tuition will be charged from the time of entering.

Rates of tuition must be paid in advance, counting from the time of entry until the close of the current term, and no deductions will be made for absence of any kind.

MUSIC.

An accomplished teacher of music will give lessons each term on both piano and organ. Those who take music lessons will be charged from $8 to $10 per term extra.

LOCATION.

The school is situated in the village of Spiceland, Henry county, Indiana, two and one half miles north of Dunreith and eight miles south of New Castle. Dunreith is on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St Louis Railroad, and New Castle is on the Chicago branch of the same road. A hack meets the trains twice each day at Dunreith, and after June 1 once each day at New Castle. Mails are received daily.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent literary societies in connection with the school. The Lucian and Lucian Sisterhood, conducted by the ladies, and the Cassedian and the Cassedian Sisterhood, by the gentlemen.

LIBRARIES AND READING ROOM.

There are three libraries, two belonging to the literary societies and one to the Academy Association, which contain about two thousand volumes, and additions are constantly being made. A new library building and reading room are in contemplation, and will doubtless be erected during the summer.

LECTURES.

A lecture association affords an opportunity to hear some of the most distinguished lecturers in the country. Numerous lectures are also given in connection with the school.

APPARATUS AND CABINET.

The institution is supplied with a fine set of chemical and philosophical apparatus and an interesting geological cabinet. The students have access to an extensive library and several private cabinets of rare value and interest.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding ranges from $3 to $3 25 per week. There is a boarding house connected with the school, the rooms of which are rented to young women who, by boarding themselves, need not cost those to exceed $1 50 or $2 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs, and a table are provided for each room, the occupant [illegible] such [illegible] as they may need. Remarks.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will be them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

In the Latin and Greek languages, Harkness's Method on the declension of nouns and the conjugation of verbs, is used, with reference to the application of rules of construction. The second year in Latin and Greek will be the same as that required by the college preparatory course. Greek may be substituted for some of the studies in the last two years of the course.

Classes will be formed in the French and German Languages whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue these studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

Special Departments.

Advanced Course in Chemistry. This includes Qualitative Analysis and practical work in the Laboratory.

Civil Engineering.

This course includes Land Surveying, Leveling and the practical use of Transit and Level.

Commercial Department.

In this department a practical course in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, single and double Entry Book-keeping.

Normal Department.

Special attention will be given to the training of teachers. To this end the first students will be elected to pursue a strong, thorough and accurate knowledge of the subject matter. Class instruction will be given in questions of teaching, school organization, and the philosophy of education.

Rates of Tuition.

Primary Department—Grade C	45 cents per week
Primary Department—Grade B	50 cents per week
Primary Department—Grade A	60 cents per week
Intermediate Department	60 cents per week
Grammar School	75 cents per week
High School—1st year	$1.00 per week
High School—2d and 3d years	$1.00 per week
Normal Department	$1.00 per week
Commercial Department	$1.00 per week

As soon as the student has been examined and assigned to his classes, settlement will then be expected, either by cash or note.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted illness.

In case of withdrawal from school, tuition will be charged to the end of the week in which the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made except this is done.

Literary Societies.

There are three Literary Societies connected with the school—The Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Clionian and Athenian Societies, by the gentlemen.

Libraries.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes—two of these belong to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy. A small fee

Reading Room.

A Reading Room has been established, to which all students have access. Here will be found the leading [illegible] and a number of valuable papers. Several [illegible] next year.

Lectures.

A course of Lectures will be given during the winter, by several distinguished speakers. Lectures are frequently given in connection with the school.

Apparatus and Cabinet.

The Academy is supplied with a good set of apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences, [illegible] with a Geological Cabinet, containing many valuable specimens.

Boarding.

Boarding in private families can be obtained at from $3.00 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $2.00 per week.

Location.

The school is situated in the village of Spiceland, Henry County, Indiana. Dunreith, two miles and a half to the east, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis R. R., is the nearest railway station. A hack meets the trains twice each day at Dunreith and Lewisville, New Castle.

General Items.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge, than upon rapidity of advancement.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

The High School Building has recently been enlarged, and much better accomodations are furnished than formerly.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students whose conduct is exemplary and who complete the course of study will be furnished with a Diploma signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

Lectures.

Lectures are frequently given by the teachers, and opportunities are also afforded for hearing distinguished lecturers from abroad.

Apparatus and Cabinet.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences; also a Geological Cabinet, containing many valuable specimens. During the past year the latter has been enlarged by the addition of a valuable collection of over two hundred specimens, procured and presented to the Academy by its donors.

Boarding.

The cost of board and lodging, the past year has been about $2.75 per week. Rooms are generally rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. A boarding house is connected with the Academy, at which rooms and cookboard are furnished.

Location.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, Henry county, Indiana. Dunreith, two and a half miles distant on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis R. W., is the nearest railway station. A hack meets the trains three times each day at Dunreith, and once at New Castle.

General Items.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship; and that self-government and self-control, on the part of the student, are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and necessary knowledge, than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, Algebra and Latin, there are from three to five divisions; so that students can recite as many times and be classed according to their advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no locality in the State more favorable to health.

The Lord's day and the Methodist Episcopal religious services on the Sabbath, are held in the Spiceland school. The Young Men's Christian Association holds a meeting for worship every Sabbath afternoon.

Assistant teachers from Essex is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during each recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school, including equal advantages.

The management of the school are very careful to surround the institution in which students also reside away from home and parents, with the surroundings of good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

Horses and boarding, liquor, or billiard rooms in the village.

The Board of Trustees keeping the present efficient corps of teachers, and much better accomodations are furnished than formerly.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency, will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

Literary Societies.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school:—The Lacernan, conducted by the ladies, and the Clionian and Calosophian Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Connection to make exercises is granted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

Libraries.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes. Two of these belong to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

Reading Room.

A Reading Room has recently been opened to which all students have access. It is supplied with the leading periodicals, and a number of valuable papers. Cyclopedias and other valuable books of reference are kept on file. New books are added each year.

Lectures.

Lectures are frequently given by the teachers, and opportunities are also afforded for hearing distinguished lecturers from abroad.

Apparatus and Cabinet.

The Academy is supplied with suitable apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences, and a Geological Cabinet containing many valuable specimens. During the past year the latter has been enlarged by a considerable collection of over twelve hundred specimens, carefully labeled and presented to the Academy by its Alumni.

Boarding.

The cost of boarding and lodging the pupils is from about $2.75 per week. Rooms can be obtained at from 50 cents to $1.00 per week, and the cost reduced to less than $2.00 per week. No charge for tuition is connected with the Academy, at which rooms and board are furnished.

Location.

REMARKS.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

English Literature receives special attention; the work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, the history of the lives of the leading authors, and a critical study of parts of their works.

In the Latin and Greek languages, more attention is given to the declension of nouns and the conjugation of verbs, by which, and also on the application of the rules of construction. The amount of work in these languages will be the same as that required by the college which student may prosecute later.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and French languages whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

Credit will be given for substituted studies, and students who are preparing for college will be allowed to graduate when they have done work equivalent to that required to complete the regular course.

SPECIAL DEPARTMENTS.

CIVIL ENGINEERING.

This course includes Land Surveying, Leveling, and the practical use of the Transit and the Level.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

In this department instruction is given in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, Single and Double Entry Book-keeping.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Special attention will be given to the training of teachers. To this end the best efforts will be directed towards securing thorough and accurate knowledge of the subject matter; then instruction will be given in the methods of teaching, school organization, and the philosophy of education. For those attending in this department the Primary and Intermediate schools afford an opportunity to learn, both by observation and practice, the best methods of teaching.

RATES OF TUITION.

		Payable in advance
PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade C	Seventy-five cents per week
PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade B	Seventy-five cents per week	30 cents
PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade A	Seventy-five cents per week	45 cents
INTERMEDIATE DEPARTMENT	Seventy-five cents per week	60 cents
GRAMMAR SCHOOL	Seventy-five cents per week	30 cents
HIGH SCHOOL (1st Year)	Seventy-five cents per week	50 cents
HIGH SCHOOL (2d, 3d and Third Years)	Seventy-five cents per week	50 cents
NORMAL DEPARTMENT	$1 00 per week	60 cents
COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT	Seventy-five cents per week	50 cents
	$1 00 per week

Hereafter Special Review Classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted illness. In event of sickness no deduction must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school: The Lincolnian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Edison Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

LIBRARIES.

There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes. Two of them belonging to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

READING ROOM.

A Reading Room has recently been opened, to which all students have access. It is supplied with the leading periodicals, and a number of Religious papers. Cyclopedias and other valuable books of reference are free to all. New books are added each year.

LECTURES.

Lectures are frequently given by the teachers, and opportunities are also offered for hearing distinguished lecturers from abroad.

APPARATUS AND CABINET.

The Academy is supplied with such general apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences; also a Geological Cabinet containing many valuable specimens, which has been enlarged by the addition of a valuable collection of over two hundred specimens, purchased and presented to the Academy by its Alumni.

BOARDING.

The cost of healthful and healing board at reasonable rates. Board can be obtained by those who wish, for the school year, at a rate not reduced to less than $1.25 per week. A club has been in success full operation, the cost of which to healthful, persistent, skilful and loyal, was reduced to $2.25 per week.

LOCATION.

The school is in the Village of Spiceland, which is situated on the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two and a half miles east of Pleasant, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that moral is more than scholarship, and self-reliance and self-control, on the part of the student, are inherent factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and classification of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, Algebra and Latin there are from three to five classes each, so that student can enter school at any time and be classed according to their advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been unusually good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention and instruction.

Lectures on various subjects are delivered before the school from time to time.

The interests of the students are carefully looked after, and they are surrounded by such influences as will be calculated to make them feel that while away from home and kindred they have the co-operation of the entire force of the school.

It is the aim to promote the growth of students, intellectually, morally and physically—to make better men and women in every possible way.

Students are required to report to their boarding place during the evening.

They are not to visit, loaf, or be found in saloons or other objectionable places.

No student whose influence is objectionable to the school will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study, and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the Board of Trustees.

REMARKS.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those Students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

English Literature receives special attention; the work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, the history of the lives of the leading authors, and a critical study of parts of each work.

In the Latin and Greek languages, time will not allow the discussion of points, and the completion of the course, and also on the application of the rules of construction. The amount of work and the languages will be the same and as required by the college which students propose entering.

Classes will be formed in the German and French languages whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue these studies.

Persons 25 years of age or upwards will receive Mention Three Months in the whole course of study.

Credit will be given for satisfactorily studies, and students who are preparing for college will be advised to graduate, as they have done work equivalent to that required to complete the regular course.

SPECIAL DEPARTMENTS.

Civil Engineering.

This course includes Land Surveying, Leveling, and the practical use of the Transit and the Level.

Commercial Department.

In this department instruction is given in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, Single and Double Entry Bookkeeping.

Normal Department.

Special attention will be given to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed toward a review of the branches to be taught, and a thorough knowledge of the subject matter; then instruction will be given in the methods of teaching, school organization, and the principles of philosophy of education. Lectures on these departments of the Primary and Intermediate schools will be given daily by experts, followed by observation and practice, the best methods of teaching.

Rates of Tuition.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade C	$ 50 cents per week.
PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade B	75 cents per week.
PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade A	1 00 per week.

Payment of tuition must be made at the beginning of each term. In case of absence on account of protracted sickness a proportion of the money will be returned.

Literary Societies.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school. The Lucretian, confined to the ladies, and the Clionian and Adson Societies, for the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also recommended to the Intermediate and Grammar School Students. Care is taken to make such as are guarded with the rules governing permanent bodies.

Libraries.

There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes. Two of them belong to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

Reading Room.

A Reading Room has recently been opened, to which all students have access. It is supplied with the leading periodicals, and a number of valuable papers. Cyclopedias and other valuable books of reference are found there. New books are added each year.

REMARKS.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparatory study for colleges.

English Literature receives special attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, the history of the lives of the leading authors, and a critical study of parts of their works.

In the Latin and Greek Languages, thorough drill on the declension of nouns and the conjugation of the verbs, is given, and also on the application of the rules of construction. The amount of work in these languages will be the same as that required by the college which a student proposes to enter.

Classes will be formed in the Greek, German and French Languages whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue these studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

SPECIAL DEPARTMENTS.

CIVIL ENGINEERING.

This course includes Land Surveying, Leveling, and the practical use of the Transit and the Level.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

In this department instruction is given in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, Single and Double Entry Book-Keeping.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Special attention will be given to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed towards securing thorough and accurate knowledge of the subject matter, then instruction will be given in the method of teaching, school organization, and the philosophy of education. Teachers attending in this department in the Primary and Intermediate schools, although an opportunity to learn, both by observation and practice, the best methods of teaching.

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and German and French languages whenever a sufficient number desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English Literature receives careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have at least two years work in Latin, or in special cases, equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drills on the declensions of nouns and adjectives and the conjugations of verbs, is given, also on the application of the rules of construction. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight reading are given. The intention is to make this study practical as well as disciplinary.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and the Philosophy of History. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with such instruments as to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences such texts are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Bookkeeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm.

NORMAL COURSE.

Special attention is paid to the training of teachers. To this end the instructors will be directed toward securing a thorough and accurate knowledge of these studies in all the legal branches are learned each term, and during the spring term special review classes are organized in which the studies are taken up topically and methods of instruction are discussed. During the spring term instruction is given in the science and art of teaching, school organization, school management, and the history and philosophy of education. A strong effort is made to infuse into these subjects the true spirit of teaching. The true teacher must possess scholarship and skill. To show how successful the Academy has been as a Normal School, it needs only to be stated that three-fourths of all our graduates have become teachers.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school. The Lyceum, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Delsarte Societies by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding and lodging the past year has been about $3.50 per week. Rooms can be rented by three students for [illegible] themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. In [illegible] the cost of boarding, room-rent, light and fuel, can be reduced to $2.25 per week, or less, depending on the preference of members.

LOCATION.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, which is connected on the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two and a half miles west of Dunreith, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad.

GENERAL ITEMS.

As an aid to pupils in the preparation of their lessons, dictionaries, cyclopedias and other books of reference are placed in the school room and are free to all. Also the leading magazines and newspapers are furnished for the use of the students.

Opportunity is offered to students, free of cost, of hearing good lectures on educational and scientific subjects.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood, womanhood, scholarship, and self-respect all entitle the pupil to the right of self-control in the pursuit of the highest object in the formation of character. Good order and [illegible] instruction and courtesy of language [illegible]

In addition to [illegible] Geography and Physiology [illegible] exercises, [illegible] that [illegible] may open school at any time [illegible] to [illegible] assignment.

Instructors [illegible] the health of the [illegible] have [illegible] used. There is probably [illegible] taught in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students, who go away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the cooperation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corruptive tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma signed by the instructors and the president of the Board of Trustees.

"Literary culture is mental horticulture. It joins beauty to utility and gives fruitfulness, harmony and completeness to the mind of its possessor."

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY

The [illegible] course of study [illegible]

do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and German and French languages whenever a sufficient number desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English Literature receives careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have at least two years work in Latin, or in special cases, equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns and adjectives and the conjugations of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight reading are given. The intention is to make this study practical as well as disciplinary.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and the Philosophy of History. The course will lead up to the study of the deeds of mankind in all ages and their struggle for religious freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides many complicated machines, batteries, etc. In Chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the Sciences objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm.

NORMAL COURSE.

Special attention is paid to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed toward securing a thorough and accurate knowledge. Classes in all the legal branches are formed each term, and during the spring term special review classes are organized in which the studies are taken up topically and methods of instruction are discussed. During the spring term instruction is given, in the science and art of teaching, school government, school management and the history and philosophy of education. A strong effort is made to infuse into those intending to teach the true teaching spirit. The true teacher must possess scholarship and skill. To show how successful the Academy has been as a Normal School it suffices only to state that three-fourths of all our graduates have become teachers.

Special review classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after the fifth week, except in cases of protracted ill-health. In event of sickness lasting a term, a deduction will be given if the withdrawal of the pupil, as reported to us by the parent, is in order.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school, the Lyceum, conducted by the ladies, and the Clionian and Spicelandian, by the gentlemen. Literary entertainments are given each term by the Lyceum and Grammar School students. Care is taken to train the students in parliamentary practice, the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

LIBRARIES.

There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes, two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made every year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding and lodging one year has been about $100 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and can be had for less than $1.75 per week. In a club of ten persons the cost of board per week has been known to be reduced to $2.25 per week, or less, depending upon the provisions used.

LOCATION.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, which has the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and is connected by telephone with Dunreith on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad.

LECTURES.

Occasionally, during the term, the pupils have the benefit of hearing good lectures on educational and other subjects. The following lectures have been given during the past year:

Prof. [illegible]	"An Account of the Mastodon."
W. [illegible]	"Heroic Men."
Hon. [illegible]	"Lyceum."
Prof. W. [illegible]	"A Visit to Europe."
Hon. [illegible]	"Our Educational Progress."
[illegible]	"A Mountain Excursion."
Prof. [illegible]	"The Relation of Church and State."
Hon. W. D. [illegible]	[illegible]

GENERAL ITEMS.

As an aid to pupils in the preparation of their [illegible] the following papers and other hand-book references are placed in the [illegible]. Many of the leading magazines and newspapers are furnished [illegible] the students.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography and Algebra there are from three to five classes each term, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintain a Sabbath school.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitations.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The management of the school desires a social home, like this, an institution in which students who are away from home and friends restraints will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and while they have the enjoyment of the comforts of the village.

Students are required to keep early hours during the evening.

There are no saloons, resort or billiard rooms in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

"It is what the child does for himself and by himself, under wise guidance, that educates him." SWETT.

PICELAND, INDIANA, is a thriving, growing Town of about eight hundred inhabitants, situated on the Ft. Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railway, and two and one-half miles north of Dunreith, on the C., St. L. & P. Railway, in Henry County. Four daily mails; telegraph office. The location of an excellent Academy of high grade. A moral and temperance town; no liquor saloons. UNLIMITED SUPPLY OF NATURAL GAS! Natural Gas used for fuel and light of the town. Free Gas to manufactories. A very healthy community. Best of water. In the midst of excellent farming country. Gravel roads running in every direction. Plenty of good timber. Taxes low. Town out of debt. Mechanics busy. A Board of Trade to look after the interests of the town. Three large Libraries free to all. Cost of living small. WE WANT MANUFACTURERS AND MORE CITIZENS TO LOCATE HERE. If you wish to be near an excellent school; if you want to change your location for any purpose; if you want to live in a good moral and temperance town; if you want to engage in manufacturing, WE WANT YOU HERE. Write to the Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Trade, who will gladly give you any information.

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and German and French languages whenever a sufficient number desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English Literature receives careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have at least two years' work in Latin, or in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declensions of nouns and adjectives and the conjugations of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight-reading are given. The intention is to make this study practical as well as disciplinary.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and the Philosophy of History. These courses will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany animals and plants are studied from texture, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the Science subjects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and its practical phases of business papers in all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm.

NORMAL COURSE.

Special attention is paid to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed toward securing a thorough and accurate knowledge. Classes in all the legal branches are formed each term, and during the spring term special review classes are organized in which the studies are taken up topically and methods of instruction are discussed. During the spring term instruction is given in the science and art of teaching, school organization, school management and the history and philosophy of education. A strong effort is made to infuse into these recitations a true, live teaching spirit. The true teacher must possess scholarship and skill. To those who are familiar with the Academy has been as a Normal School, it needs only to be stated that three-fourths of all our graduates have become teachers.

RATES OF TUITION.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness making absence, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this evidence.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school, the Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Odeon Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding and lodging during the [illegible] Opportunities for [illegible] rooms can be rented by those who desire to board themselves, and the cost reduced to [illegible] per week. In clubs the cost [illegible] can be reduced to $2 25 per week, or less than [illegible]

LOCATION.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, which is situated on the Ft. Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Chicago, St. Louis & Pittsburgh Railroad.

LECTURES.

Opportunity is offered to students, free of cost, of hearing good lectures on educational and scientific subjects. The following lectures have been given the past year:

PROF. D. W. DENNIS, ... "Farm and Garden."
ELDER J. H. EDWARDS, ... "Australia."
PROF. W. J. BRYAN, . . . "Future of the Mississippi Valley."
PROF. C. W. HODGIN, ... "The Age of Washington."
PROF. S. S. PALE, ... "Fifty Days in London."
PRESIDENT W. W. PARSONS, . . "The Ethics of Shakespeare."
GEORGE W. BASS, ... "Gumption."

GENERAL ITEMS.

As an aid to pupils in the preparation of their lessons, dictionaries, cyclopedias and other books of reference are placed in the school room and are free to all. Also, the leading magazines and newspapers are furnished for the use of the students.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar and Algebra there are from three to five classes each term, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and German and French languages whenever a sufficient number desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English Literature receives careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have at least two years' work in Latin, or in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declensions of nouns and adjectives and the conjugations of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight reading are given. The intention is to make this study practical as well as disciplinary.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and the Philosophy of History. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the Sciences objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm.

NORMAL COURSE.

Special attention is paid to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed toward securing a thorough and accurate knowledge. Classes in all the legal branches are formed each term, and during the spring term special review classes are organized in which the studies are taken up topically and methods of instruction are discussed. During the spring term special normal classes are formed in all the legal branches, in the Science and Art of Teaching, Psychology, Physical Geography. Lectures are given on school organization, school management and the practical work of school teaching. A strong effort is made to reduce theory to practice and to teach the true teaching spirit. The true teacher must possess practical knowledge and skill! To show how successful the Academy has been as a Normal School it needs only to be stated that three-fourths of all our graduates have become teachers.

RATES OF TUITION.

Special review classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and will be charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health. In event of sickness lasting over, or absence given of the withdrawal of the pupil, no deduction will be made until the close of the

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Societies connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end public exercises are frequently held to commemorate some author, or well-known historical event. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belong to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding and lodging during the past year has been about $3.00 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. In clubs the entire cost of boarding, room rent, light and fuel can be reduced to $2.00 per week, or less, depending on the preference of members.

LOCATION.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, which is situated on the Ft. Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Chicago, St. Louis & Pittsburgh Railroad.

LECTURES.

Opportunity is offered to students, free of cost, of hearing good lectures on educational and scientific subjects. The following lectures have been given the past year.

Hon. Will Cumback..... ."The Common Man."
Hon. D. P. Baldwin..... "Personality."
Prof. W. A. Bell ..... "Growth."
Pres't J. J. Mills..... "Egypt."
Prof. R. G. Boone ..... "Protestantism and Elementary Education."
Prof. Geo. F. Bass ..... "Humor."

GENERAL ITEMS.

As an aid to pupils in the preparation of their lessons, dictionaries, encyclopedias and other books of reference are placed in the school room and are free to all.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapid ity of advancement.

Promotions are never made on the ground of technical advancement alone, and examinations play a subordinate part in promoting students. Examinations for promotion [illegible] The pupil's grade and standing is determined from his general character as a student, his conduct, his diligence, his attention to duty, his promptness in his work, and the mental power he displays. These are tested daily in class work as well as in frequent oral and written reviews. This method reveals from day to day what the pupil knows and how he knows it, relieving the teacher and pupil from the final examination ordeal to make evident the promotion will be made, and best of all, it dispenses with the [illegible] "cramming" process.

In Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar and Algebra the work is done in three to five classes each term, so that students can select their own rate and be classed according to advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been unusually good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of the Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

Spiceland Academy.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends' school is much older than this, dating back more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the Board of Trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the Trustees. While the school is under denominational control it is not sectarian; its foundation rests upon solid Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 116 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and progressing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. R. R., two miles north of Dunreith on the Pennsylvania R. R. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, and adjoining is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports.

ENTRANCE.

Students can enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In absence of approved certificates examinations will be held, and students will be classified accordingly.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Much care and attention are paid to the Normal teaching. More than seventy-five per cent. of our graduates have followed teaching for a longer or shorter period. More than half of the teachers of Henry county have been students at the Academy. Those who desire to become teachers will find classes to suit every term, but during the Spring Term special efforts are made for Normal work. In this term, review classes will be formed in all the legal branches, in which instruction will be given in methods of teaching, as well as a thorough review of all the principles of these studies. Daily recitations are held in Pedagogy, Mental Science, Physical Geography and Rhetoric. Besides these special classes much of the High School courses is of particular value to teachers. Students can enter any classes for which they are prepared, and other classes not named will be formed if there is a sufficient demand. The terms is of sufficient length to enable students to do good permanent work. In the Normal Course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools, quite as much as to aid them to get good licenses. A series of talks will be given in this course on school [illegible] methods of instruction and the practical work of school teaching.

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparatory students for college. Students are urged to choose a college course, and all possible aid will be given. Students will be admitted to any of the leading colleges of Indiana without examinations.

Other classes will be formed whenever a sufficient number desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

At the close of the Winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literature receive careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have at least two years' work in Latin, or its special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns and adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight reading are given. The intention is to make this study practical as well as disciplinary. The inductive method is used in this study.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and the Philosophy of History. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom. The course includes two full years of historical study.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry, students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences, objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study, practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm. In the High School, one year is spent on Algebra and one year on Geometry and Trigonometry.

Special review classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and will be charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness, notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades, both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are frequently held to commemorate some author, or well-known historical event. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school room, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantages of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. Students have been in attendance the past year whose entire expenses, including tuition, have been less than $100. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $2 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who desire to board themselves, and the price of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Opportunity is offered to students free of cost, of hearing good lectures on education, scientific and literary subjects. For several years a lecture course has been maintained by the school.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

Promotions are never made on the ground of technical advancement alone, and examinations play a subordinate part in promoting students. Examinations for promotion have been abolished. The pupil's grade and standing is determined from his general character as a student, his earnestness, his diligence, his attention to duty, his promptness in his work, and the mental power he displays. These are tested daily in class work as well as in frequent oral and written reviews. This method reveals from day to day what the pupil knows and how he knows it, relieving the teacher and pupil from the final examination to determine whether the promotion will be made, and best of all, it dispenses with the harmful "cramming" process.

In Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar and Algebra there are from three to five classes each term, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintain a Sabbath school. A society of the Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the cooperation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupt tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends' school is much older than this, dating back more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the Board of Trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the Trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian; its foundation rests upon solid Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 127 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. R. R., two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania R. R. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, and adjoining is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports.

ENTRANCE.

Students can enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In absence of approved certificates examinations will be held, and students will be classified accordingly.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Much care and attention are paid to the Normal teaching. More than seventy-five per cent of our graduates have followed teaching for a longer or shorter period. More than half of the teachers of Henry county have been students at the Academy. Those who desire to become teachers will find classes to suit every term, but during the Spring term special efforts are made for Normal work. In this term Review classes will be formed in all the legal branches, in which instruction will be given in methods of teaching, as well as a thorough review of all the principles of these studies. Daily recitations are offered in Pedagogy, Mental Science, Physical Geography and Rhetoric. Besides these special classes, much of the High School course is of particular value to teachers. Students can enter any classes for which they are prepared, and other classes not named will be formed if there is a sufficient demand. The term is of sufficient length to enable students to do good, permanent work. In the Normal Course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools, quite as much as to aid them to get good licenses. A series of talks will be given in this course on school management, methods of instruction, and the practical work of school teaching.

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

Classes in Bookkeeping, Single and Double entry, will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third-year study. Satisfactory work in this subject may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college and third-year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given whenever a sufficient number of students desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges of Indiana without examination.

In Arithmetic, U. S. History, Geography, Physiology, Grammar and Algebra there are from three to five classes each term, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to advancement.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the State.

At the close of the Winter term the members of the second-year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literatures receive careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language; a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns and adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight-reading are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom. The course includes three full years of historical study.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry, students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences, objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study, practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Bookkeeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm. In the High School, one year is spent on Algebra and one year on Geometry and Trigonometry.

Special review classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and will be charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness, notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades, both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author, or well known historical event. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school room, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who desire to board themselves, and the price of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Opportunity is offered to students, free of cost, of hearing good lectures on educational, scientific and literary subjects. For several years a lecture course has been maintained by the school.

The following lectures were given the past year: "Recollections of the Presidents," by Hon. Richard Thompson, Terre Haute; "The Medical Profession in the Civil War," by Dr J. R. Weist, Richmond; Stereopticon Entertainment and Lecture, "Ben Hur," by Prof. D. W. Dennis, Richmond.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The Government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade.

Students whose daily class record is 95 per cent. with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination. Those who satisfactorily complete the Grammar School course are given certificates to that effect.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintain a Sabbath school. A society of the Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the cooperation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupt tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

SPICELAND PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The public schools of Spiceland Corporation are under the same supervision as Spiceland Academy, but otherwise they are wholly under the control of the Corporation school board. Pupils not residing in, or not attached to, Spiceland Corporation are required to pay tuition at rates given elsewhere in this catalogue.

The course of study is based upon that adopted by the County Superintendents' Convention and used throughout the State.

The work of each school year is divided into two parts and promotions are made at the end of each term. Pupils not doing satisfactory work in any grade are required to take the same work another term. To do the work required in each grade, it is necessary that pupils be regular and punctual in attendance and industrious in effort. Absence from a single recitation breaks the thread of thought and often causes the pupil to lose interest and become discouraged in his work. The hearty cooperation of parents and guardians is earnestly solicited that best results may be obtained.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends' school is much older than this, dating back more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body, the Board of Trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the Trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian; its foundation rests upon Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 136 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. R. R., two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania R. R. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, and adjoining is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by students.

ENTRANCE.

Students can enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificates, examinations will be held and students will be classified accordingly.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Much care and attention are paid to the Normal teaching. More than seventy-five per cent of our graduates have followed teaching for a longer or shorter period. A great many of the teachers of Henry county have been students at the Academy. Those who desire to become teachers will find classes to suit every term, but during the Spring term special efforts are made for Normal work. In this term Review classes will be formed in all the legal branches, in which instruction will be given in methods of teaching, as well as a thorough review of all the principles of these studies. Daily recitations are offered in Pedagogy, Mental Science, Physical Geography and Rhetoric. Besides these special classes, much of the High School course is of particular value to teachers. Students can enter any classes for which they are prepared, and other classes not named will be formed if there is a sufficient demand. The term is of sufficient length to enable students to do good permanent work. In the Normal Course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools, quite as much as to aid them to get good licenses. In this course a series of talks will be given on school management, methods of instruction, and the practical work of school teaching.

Remarks on Course of Study.

Classes in Book Keeping, Single and Double entry, will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in this subject may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college and third-year work in Latin. Mathematics and other subjects will be given whenever a sufficient number of students desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges of Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the State.

At the close of the Winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical purity, Choice and Use of words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literatures receive careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and time of the leading authors and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight reading and Latin Composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom. The course includes three full years of historical study.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry, students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences, objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study, practical problems are given as much as possible and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and the practical phases of business paper and all commercial forms, are taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm. In the High School, one year is spent on Algebra and one year on Geometry and Trigonometry.

RATES OF TUITION.

	Per Week.
Grammar School	$ 75
High School—First Year	80
High School—Second Year	90
High School—Third Year	1 00
Normal and Review Classes	90
Commercial Department	1 00

Special Review classes will be considered as belonging to the Second Year High School and will be charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness, notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author or well-known historical event. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school rooms, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a very small expense. The following course of lectures by Prof. James A. Woodburn, of the Indiana State University, was delivered before the Spiceland University Extension Association during the season of 1892-93. Students were admitted to these lectures at the nominal fee of fifty cents for the course: "Slavery in the Colonies and the Constitution," "The Missouri Struggle," "The Abolition Agitation," "The Texas Controversy," "The Compromise of 1850," "The Fugitive Slave Law."

GENERAL ITEMS.

The Government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class record is 95 per cent. with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination. Those who satisfactorily complete the Grammar School course are given certificates to that effect.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupt tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the Board of Trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends' school is much older than this, dating back for more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body, the board of trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the Trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 116 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. R. R., two miles south of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania R. R. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, and adjoining is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by the students.

ENTRANCE.

Students can enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly.

Remarks on Course of Study.

Classes in Book Keeping, Single and Double entry, will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in this study may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. SPECIAL ATTENTION, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN TO PREPARING STUDENTS FOR COLLEGE, and third year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given whenever a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges of Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the State.

At the close of the Winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical purity, Choice and Use of words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises

This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom. The course includes three full years of historical study.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry, students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences, objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study, practical problems are given as much as possible and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and the practical phases of business paper and all commercial forms, are taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm. In the High School, one year is spent on Algebra and one year on Geometry and Trigonometry.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach, the opportunity of Normal instruction during the spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed, and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of its advantages.

The increasing demand for Normal work, and for a more extended course than can be given during the spring term has induced the Board to add a Normal Department that provides for a full year's work of three terms, as follows:

Fall Term	Methods	Arithmetic	Algebra	U. S. History	Physiology
Winter Term	Methods	Algebra	Geometry	U. S. History	Geography
Spring Term	Methods	Reading	Physiology	Geography

In the fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will also be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work. During the winter term both classes having started in the fall will advance to the next work in the course. In the spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology, and Method may be had in the spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year:

Term	FALL			WINTER		SPRING
	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Grammar 3rd	Method	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Method
	Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2nd	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading	Arithmetic 1st, 1st.	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading
	U. S. His. 1st boy.	U. S. His. 2nd boy.	U. S. His. 2nd boy.	Physiology	U. S. His. 1st boy.	U. S. His. 1st boy. 2nd	Physiology
	Psychology	Geography 1st boy.	Geography 1st boy.	Geography 2nd	Psychology	Geography 1st boy.	Geography 1st boy. 2nd

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. It, however, is known that many high school graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students and for students having graduated from the Common Schools, who wish to get a more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Psychology, Pedagogy, and Method will be given to make the work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department can not be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Psychology and Method.

In the Normal Course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools, quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to the work in the Normal Department will, in no way, interfere with the regular Academic Course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work, and part Normal work will be conveniently accommodated.

Prof. G. W. Nyce, the Superintendent of the Academy for 1894-95 is a graduate of The Indiana State Normal, has had considerable experience in Common School, and High School work, and also in Normal Institute work. He will be aided in this department by a competent assistant; so that we can confidently recommend the advantages which Spiceland offers to all students who desire to fit themselves for teaching.

Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a very small expense. The following lectures and entertainments were given under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. during the season of 1893-94: "An Elocutionary Entertainment" by Prof. Trueblood, of Earlham College, "Citizenship" by the Rev. R. V. Hunter, of Terre Haute, "A Musical and Literary Entertainment" under the direction of Emily Louise Parker, "Source of Power" by President J. J. Mills, of Earlham College.

Students were admitted to these lectures and entertainments at the nominal fee of fifty cents for the course.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The Government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work each of pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class record is 95 per cent. with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupt tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the board of trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends' school is much older than this, dating back for more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the board of trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least: its foundation rests upon christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 166 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as a Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. R. R., two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania R. R. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove adjoining which is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by the students.

ENTRANCE.

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held, and students classified accordingly.

Remarks on Course of Study.

Classes in Book Keeping, Single and Double entry, will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in this study may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowlege of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college, and third year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given when a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges of Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the State.

At the close of the Winter term, the members of the second High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Beside the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical purity, Choice and Use of Words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises n each. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writing. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or, in special cases equivalents, may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction, and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advance work, exercises in sight reading and Latin Composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry, students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences, objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study, practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and the practical phases of business paper and all commercial forms are taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm. In the High School, one year is spent on Algebra, and one year on Geometry and Trigonometry.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past, special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach, the opportunity of Normal instruction during the spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed, and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of its advantages.

The increasing demand for Normal work, and for a more extended course than can be given during the spring term has induced the board to add a Normal Department that provides for a full year's work of three terms, as follows:-

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U. S. History	Psychology
Winter Term	2nd Grammar	2nd Arithmetic	2nd U. S. History	1st Geography
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2nd Geography

In the fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will also be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work. During the winter term both classes having started in the fall will advance to the next work in the course. In the spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology, and Method may be had in the spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year:

Term	FALL		WINTER			SPRING
	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Grammar 2nd		Method	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Method
	Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2nd	Arithmetic 2nd	2nd	Reading	Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading
	U. S. History 1st	U. S. History 2nd	U. S. History 2nd		Physiology	U. S. History 1st	U. S. History 2nd	Physiology
	Psychology	General Physics	Geography 1st	physics	Geography 2nd	Psychology	Geography 1st physics	Geography 2nd.

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. It, however, is known that many high school graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from the Common Schools, who wish to get a more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Psychology, Pedagogy and Method will be given to make the work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department cannot be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Psychology and Method.

In the Normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to the work in the Normal Department will in no way interfere with the regular Academic Course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work, and part Normal work will be conveniently accommodated.

Prof. G. W. Neet, the Superintendent of the Academy for 1894-95 is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal, has had the advantage of a course of instruction in Indiana University, is well experienced in Public and High School work, and also in Normal Institute work. He will be aided in this department by Leonard Young, a State Normal student who has also had the advantage of a course at Indiana University, so that we can confidently recommend the advantages which Spiceland offers to all students who desire to fit themselves for teaching.

RATES OF TUITION.

Grammar School	$ .75 per week.
High School First Year	.20 per week per subject.
High School Second Year	.22½ " " " "
High School Third Year	.25 " " " "
Normal and Review Classes	$1.00
Commercial Department	1.00

Tuition is due at the opening of each term, and settlement must be made with either the treasurer or superintendent, before students may enter upon their term's work.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness, notice must, in all cases be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author or well known historical event. Essays and declamation are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school rooms, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the Students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a small expense. The following course of lectures was given under the auspices of Spiceland Literary Club during the season of 1894-95: Ten lectures on "The Era of the Reformation," by Prof. Cyrus Hodgin, of Earlham College. These lectures were all highly instructive as well as entertaining. Arrangements were made by which these lectures were practically free to the students.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class record is 95 per cent., with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the board of trustees.

Spiceland Academy.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends school is much older than this, dating back for more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly meeting, by which body the board of trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 166 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. Railroad, two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, adjoining which is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by the students.

ENTRANCE

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly.

Remarks on the Course of Study.

Higher classes in any of the work will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in those studies may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. SPECIAL ATTENTION, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN TO PREPARING STUDENTS FOR COLLEGE, and third year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given when a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges in Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the state.

At the close of the Winter term the members of the second High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual word in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical purity, choice and use of words, and kinds of composition, with practial exercises in each. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, history of the lives and times of the leading authors and a critical study of selections from their writing. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or, in special cases equivalents, may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advance work exercises in sight-reading and Latin Composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides the air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classifications are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

The aim in this study is to introduce the student to mathematical methods and to develop in him the power to reason clearly and accurately on any given problem. Algebra is studied throughout the first year of the High School, Geometry during the second year. A great deal of supplementary work is given in Algebra and original exercises are introduced as much as possible in geometry. Astronomy is studied during the winter term of the third year. In this subject the work is largely descriptive. A good six inch telescope belongs to the Academy, to aid in this study.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach the opportunity of Normal instruction during the spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of its advantages.

The increasing demand for Normal work and for a more extended course than can be given during the spring term has induced the board to add a Normal Department that provides for a full year's work of three terms as follows.

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U. S. History	Psychology
Winter Term	2nd Grammar	2nd Arithmetic	2nd U. S. History	1st Geography
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2nd Geography

In the fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work. During the winter term, both classes having started in the fall, will advance to the next work in the course. In the spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology and Method may be had in the spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year:

Term	FALL		WINTER		SPRING
	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Grammar 2nd	Method	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Method
	Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2nd	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading	Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading
	U S Hist 1st	U S Hist 2nd	U S History 2nd	Physiology	U S Hist 1st	U S Hist 2nd	Physiology
	Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 1st	Geography 1st	Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 2nd

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. It, however, is known that many high school graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from the Common Schools, who wish to get more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Psychology, Pedagogy and Method will be given to make work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department cannot be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Psychology and Method.

In the Normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to work in the Normal Department will in no way interfere with the regular Academic Course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work and part Normal work will be conveniently accommodated.

Prof. G. W. Neet, the Superintendent of the Academy for 1896-97, is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal, has had the advantage of a course of instruction in Indiana University, is well experienced in Public and High School work, and also in Normal Institute work. He will be aided in this department by an able assistant so that we can confidently recommend the advantages which Spiceland offers to all students who desire to fit themselves for teaching.

RATES OF TUITION.

Grammar School, 75 cents per week. High School--first year, 20 cents per week per subject. High School--second year, 22½ cents per week per subject. High School--third year, 33⅓ cents per week per subject. Normal and Review classes, $1.00. Commercial Department, $1.00.

Tuition is due at the opening of each term, and settlement must be made with either the treasurer or superintendent, before students may enter upon their term's work. No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author or well known historical event. Essays and declamation are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopædias are in the school rooms, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes, two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them in their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3.00 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a small expense. Lectures on various subjects are given throughout the year by able lecturers. Arrangements are made by which such lectures are practically free to students.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the record grade. Students whose daily class work is 95 per cent, with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination.

For many years the health of students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath and each maintains a Sabbath School. A society of Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution to which students who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influence, and in this they have the co operation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the board of trustees.

Remarks on the Course of Study.

HIGHER classes in any of the work will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in those studies may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent;

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. SPECIAL ATTENTION, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN TO PREPARING STUDENTS FOR COLLEGE, and third year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given when a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges in Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the state.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second high school class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of grammatical purity, choice and use of words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, history of the lives and times of the leading authors and a critical study of selections from their writing. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or, in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advance work exercises in sight-reading and Latin composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States history in the grammar school, a thorough foundation is laid in General history, English history, Civil government and Political economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of man ind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of Natural sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides the air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classifications are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

The aim in this study is to introduce the students to mathematical methods and to develop in him the power to reason clearly and accurately on on any given problem. Algebra is studied throughout the first year of the High School, Geometry during the second year. A great deal of supplementary work is given in Algebra and original exercises are introduced as much as possible in geometry. Astronomy is studied during the winter term of the third year. In this subject the work is largely descriptive. A good six inch telescope belongs to the Academy to aid in this study.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach the opportunity of Normal instruction during the Spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of its advantages.

The increasing demand for Normal work and for a more extended course than can be given during the Spring term has induced the board to add a Normal department that provides for a full year's work of three terms as follows:

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U. S. History	Psychology
Winter Term	2nd Grammar	2nd Arithmetic	2nd U. S. History	1st Geography
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2nd Geography

In the Fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work. During the winter term, both classes having started in the fall, will advance to the next work in the course. In the Spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology and Method may be had in the spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year:

Term	FALL		WINTER		SPRING
	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Grammar 2nd	Method 2nd	Gram'r 1st	Gram'r 2nd	Method
	Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2nd	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading	Arith'tic 1st	Arith'tic 2nd	Reading
	U S History 1st	U S History 2nd	U S History 2nd	Physiology	U S Hist 1st	U S Hist 2nd	Phys'y
	Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 2nd	Geography 2nd	Psy'gy	Geog'y 1st	Geog'y 2nd

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teachers knowledge of the legal branches. It, however, is known that many high school graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from the Common Schools, who wish to get more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Pychology, Pedagogy and method will be given to make work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department cannot be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Pychology, and Method.

In the normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to work in the Normal department will in no way interfere with the regular Academic Course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work and part Normal work will be conveniently accommodated.

Prof G. W. Neet, the Superintendent of the Academy for 1896-7, is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal, has had the advantage of a course of instruction in Indiana University, is well experienced in Public and High School work, and also in Normal Institute work. He will be aided in this department by an able assistant so that we can confidently recommend the advantages which Spiceland offers to all students who desire to fit themselves for teaching.

RATES OF TUITION.

Grammar school, 75 cents per week. High school first year, 20 cents per week per subject. High school second year, 22½ cents per week per subject. High school third year, 33½ cents per week per subject. Normal and Review classes $1.00. Commercial department, $1.00.

Tuition is due at the opening of each term, and settlement must be made with either the treasurer or superintendent, before students may enter upon their term's work. No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author or well known historical event. Essays and declamation are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school rooms, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them in their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3.00 a week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a small sum.

LECTURES

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a small expense. Lectures on various subjects are given throughout the year by able lecturers. Arrangements are made by which such lectures are practically free to students.

GENERAL ITEMS

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class work is 95 per cent., with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination.

For many years the health of students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institute in which students who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influence, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the board trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

SPICELAND ACADEMY is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1870 but its history as a Friends school is much older than this, dating back for more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the board of trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 176 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. Railroad, two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, adjoining which is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by the students.

ENTRANCE.

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly.

REMARKS ON THE COURSE OF STUDY.

HIGHER classes in any of the work will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in those studies may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. SPECIAL ATTENTION, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN TO PREPARING STUDENTS FOR COLLEGE, and third year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given when a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges in Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the state.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second high school class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of grammatical purity, choice and use of words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, history of the lives and times of the leading authors and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have three years' work in Latin, or, in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advance work exercises in sight reading and Latin composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of Natural sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides the air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In chemistry students do practical work in the labora tory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Minerology are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classifications are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are used as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

The aim in this study is to introduce the student to mathematical methods and to develop in him the power to reason clearly and accurately on any given problem. Algebra is studied throughout the first year of the High School. Geometry during the second year. A great deal of supplementary work is given in Algebra and original exercises are introduced as much as possible in Geometry. Astronomy is studied during the winter term of the third year. In this subject the work is largely descriptive. A good six inch telescope belongs to the Academy to aid in this study

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach the opportunity of Normal instruction during the Spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed and many students of this and adjoining counties hav availed themselves of its advantages

The increasing demand for Normal work and for a more extended course than can be given during the Spring term has induced the board to add a Normal department that provides for a full year's work of three terms as follows:

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U. S. History	Psychology
Winter Term	2d Grammar	2d Arithmetic	2d U. S. History	1st Geography
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2d Geography

In the Fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work During the winter term, both classes having started in the fall, will advance to the next work in the course. In the Spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology and Method may be had in the spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year:

Fall Term	Winter Term	Spring Term
Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Method
Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2nd	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading	Arith. 1st	Arith. 2nd	Reading
U S History 1st	U S History 2nd	U S History 2nd	Physiology	U S History 1st	U S History 2nd	Physiology
Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 1st	Geography 2nd	Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 2nd

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches It, however, is known that many high school graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from Common Schools, who wish to get more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Psychology, Pedagogy and Method will be given to make work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department cannot be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Psychology and Method.

In the Normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to work in the Normal department will in no way interfere with the regular Academic course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work and part Normal work will be conveniently accommodated.

Prof. G. W. Neet, the Superintendent of the Academy for 1897-8, is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal, has had the advantage of a course of instruction in Indiana University, is well experienced in Public and High School work, and also in Normal institute work. He will be aided in this department by an able assistant, so that we can confidently recommend the advantages which Spiceland offers to all students who desire to fit themselves for teaching.

RATES OF TUITION.

Grammar School, 75 cents per week. High School—first year, 20 cents per week per subject. High School—second year, 22½ cents per week per subject. High School—third year, 25 cents per week per subject. Normal and Review classes, $1.00. Commercial department, $1.00.

Tuition is due at opening of each term, and settlement must be made with either the treasurer or superintendent, before students may enter upon their term's work. No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness not so prostrating cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made unless this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author or well known historical event. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of encyclopedias are in the school rooms, and these with the dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contains about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Society and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them in their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantages of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3.00 a week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a small sum

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a small expense. Lectures on various subjects are given throughout the year by able lecturers Arrangements are made by which such lectures are practically free to students.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class work is 95 per cent., with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination.

For many years the health of students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier location in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcome to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influence, and in this they have the cooperation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the board of trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

SPICELAND ACADEMY is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1870, but its history as a Friends school extends over a period of more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the board of trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 189 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the Lake Erie and Western Railroad, two miles north of Dunreith on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, adjoining which is a large campus, well adapted to athletic sports.

ENTRANCE.

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly. Classes in Grammar School branches are maintained

HISTORY.

A thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. It is the purpose of this course to reveal the various steps by which the great institutions have developed and grown from early times until the present.

SCIENCE

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of Natural sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides the air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In chemistry students do practical work in the laboratory, which is supplied with necessary chemicals and apparatus. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classifications are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are used as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

The aim in this study is to introduce the student to mathematical methods and to develop in him the power to reason clearly and accurately on any given problem. Algebra is studied throughout the first year of the High School. Geometry during the second year. A great deal of supplementary work is given in Algebra and original exercises are introduced as much as possible in Geometry. Astronomy is studied during the winter term of the third year. In this subject the work is largely descriptive. A good six-inch telescope belongs to the Academy to aid in this study.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach the opportunity of Normal instruction during the Spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of this opportunity.

The increasing demand for Normal work and for a more extended course than can be given during the Spring term has induced the board to add a Normal department that provides for a full year's work of three terms as follows:

Fall Term	1st Grammar	2d Arithmetic	1st U. S. History	Psychology
Winter Term	2d Grammar	2d Arithmetic	2d U. S. History	1st Geography
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2d Geography

In the Fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work. During the Winter term, both classes having started in the fall, will advance to the next work in the course. In the Spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology and Method may be had in the Spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year.

Fall Term		Winter Term		Spring Term.
Grammar 1st	Grammar 2d	Grammar 2d	Method 2d	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2d	Method
Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2d	Arithmetic 2d	Reading	Arith. 1st	Arith. 2d	Reading
U.S. History 1st	U.S. History 2d	U.S. History 2d	Physiology	U. S. History 1st	U. S. History 2d	Physiology
Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 1st	Geography 2d	Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 2d

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. However, it is known that many High School graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from Common Schools, who wish to get a more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Psychology, Pedagogy and Method will be given to make work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department cannot be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Psychology and Method.

In the Normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to work in the Normal department will in no way interfere with the regular Academic course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work and part Normal work will be accommodated

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a small expense. Lectures on various subjects are given throughout the year by able lecturers. Arrangements are made by which such lectures are practically free to students.

The following course was given this year under the management of teachers and students:

"Gumption," Prof. Geo. Bass, Indianapolis.

"Art in Everyday Living," Prof. W. W. Black, University of Illinois.

Violin Recital, Prof. Christian Oelschlagel, Indianapolis.

"A Ramble Among Words," John E. Wiley, Anderson, Ind.

Readings of Original Poems, S. W. Gillilan, Richmond, Ind.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade.

Spiceland Academy.

History.

SPICELAND ACADEMY is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1870, but its history as a Friends' school extends over a period of more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the Board of Trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the Trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and more than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

Location.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry County, on the Lake Erie and Western Railroad, two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, adjoining which is a large campus, well adapted to athletic sports.

Entrance.

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly. Classes in Grammar School branches are maintained as demand may justify, affording opportunity for preparatory work to students who may not be eligible to regular academic standing.

In general, graduates from the non-commissioned high schools of this county can enter the Academy with a credit of six terms' work. Three terms are usually required to complete the course.

The Course of Study.

The conditions for admission to the First Year class are the same as for entrance to the public high schools of this state.

The work for the entire course is briefly outlined as follows:

First Year.

Fall Term.

LATIN—First Latin Book, (Collar and Daniel).
ALGEBRA—To Simple Equations, (Wells).
ENGLISH HISTORY—(Montgomery).
*ENGLISH—Principles of Composition.

Winter Term.

LATIN—(Continued).
ALGEBRA—To Radicals.
HISTORY—Civil Government in the United States, (Fiske).
ENGLISH—(Continued).

Spring Term.

LATIN—Chiefly Grammar and Composition.
ALGEBRA—To Progressions.
ZOOLOGY—(Selected Text.
ENGLISH—Interpretation.

*Students regularly classed for English and Literature will be given class instruction in Composition by Correspondence work through two terms. No extra charge will be made for this work.

Second Year.

Fall Term.

LATIN—Cæsar's Commentaries.
GEOMETRY—Two books, (Wentworth's).
PHYSICS—General Principles.
*ENGLISH—Original Composition.

Winter Term.

LATIN—Cæsar's Commentaries.
GEOMETRY—Three books.
HISTORY—Greece and Rome, (Myers).
ENGLISH—Composition.

Spring Term.

LATIN—Cæsar, with sight reading.
GEOMETRY—Solid Geometry, (Wentworth).
HISTORY—Mediæval and Modern, (Myers).
ENGLISH—Composition and interpretation.

Third Year

Fall Term.

LATIN—Cicero's Orations.
CHEMISTRY—(Cooley)
GEOLOGY—(Le Conte)
*RHETORIC—(Genung).

Winter Term.

LATIN—Virgil's Aeneid.
ASTRONOMY—(Todd)
POLITICAL ECONOMY—(Walker's Elementary Course.
LITERATURE—Study of English Classics.

Spring Term.

LATIN—Virgil continued.
PSYCHOLOGY—(Halleck)
BOTANY—(Wood).
LITERATURE—History of English literary periods and writers.

*Students regularly classed for English and Literature will be given class instruction in Literature at least one hour a week through two terms. No extra charge will be made for this work.

Higher classes in any of the work will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in these studies may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. SPECIAL ATTENTION, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN TO PREPARING STUDENTS FOR COLLEGE, and additional work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given when a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Graduates are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges in Indiana without examination.

At the close of the winter term the members of the Second Year class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay or oration, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

Public exercises in declamation will be given by the First Year class at the end of the fall term.

English.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of grammatical purity, choice and use of words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

Latin.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have done three years work in Latin, or, in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a vocabularly. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight reading and Latin composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as mental discipline.

The "First Latin Book," by Collar & Daniel, is used as a text in the First Year class. Any of the standard editions of the Latin classics may be used in the subsequent work.

History.

A thorough foundation is laid in General History. English History. Civil Government and Political Economy. It is the purpose of this course to reveal the various steps by which the great institutions have developed and grown from early times until the present.

Science.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the natural sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides the air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In chemistry students do practical work in the laboratory, which is supplied with necessary chemicals and apparatus. Geology and and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoölogy and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classifications are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are used as much as possible.

Mathematics.

The aim in this study is to introduce the student to mathematical methods and to develop in him the power to reason clearly and accurately on any given problem. Algebra is studied throughout the first year of the High School, Geometry during the second year. A great deal of supplementary work is given in Algebra and original exercises are introduced as much as possible in Geometry. Astronomy is studied during the winter term of the third year. In this subject the work is largely descriptive. A good six-inch telescope belongs to the Academy.

Literary Exercises.

Literary exercises are required of students in all grades, both in class work and before the public. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

Oratory and Elocution.

There is a regularly organized Oratorical Association which is associated with similar organizations of students of Fairmount, Central and Westfield Academies in the Inter-Academic Oratorical Association of Indiana. In each school a contest is held in oratory and declamation. The successful contestant in each department represents his school in an Inter-Academic contest held in April. The contest in 1901 will be held at Spiceland.

Libraries.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school-rooms, and these, with the dictionaries and numerous reference books, are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which comprise about three thousand volumes, two of them belonging to the Literary Society and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

Normal Department.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach the opportunity of normal instruction during the spring term. A special normal instructor has been employed and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of this opportunity.

The increasing demand for normal work and for a more extended course than can be given during the spring term has induced the board to add a normal department that provides for a full year's work of three terms as follows:

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U. S. History	Physiology
Winter Term	2d Grammar	2d Arithmetic	2d U. S. History	1st Geography
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Psychology	2d Geography

In the fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year.

During the winter term those having started in the fall will advance to the next work in the course.

In the spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the normal work, and for those who have done one term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology and Method may be had in the spring term.

It is not the purpose of high schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. However, it is known that many high school graduates desire to teach. This course of normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from common schools, who wish to get a more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Psychology, Pedagogy and Method will be given to make work characteristically professional.

In the normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part academic work and part normal work will be accommodated.

General Items.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade.

For many years the health of students has been uniformly good. There is probably no better location in the state in this respect.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath and each maintains a Sabbath-school. Meetings of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor and the Epworth League are held every Sabbath evening, and students are welcome to their meetings and membership.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No students whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

Lectures.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at small expense. Addresses on various subjects are given during the year by able speakers.

The following lectures and entertainments that are specially worthy of mention were given this year:

"Three Months in the Orient," by Prof. L. J. Rettger, State Normal School.

"German University Life," Prof. Sherman Davis, Indiana University.

"How to Make the Most of Life," L. H. Jones, Superintendent of Schools, Cleveland, Ohio.

Concert by the Juanita Glee Club, of Chicago.

Concert of the Chicago Glee Club.

Expenses.

Rates of Tuition.

Grammar School,	. .	four studies,	75	cents	per	week
First Year Academic,	for each study,		20	"	"	"
Second Year Academic,	"	"	22½	"	"	"
Third Year Academic,	"	"	25	"	"	"
Normal Classes,	"	"	25	"	"	"

Students who enter at irregular times will be charged full tuition for the term in case they complete the term's work in such manner as to receive credit toward the diploma.

Normal students and others who may not expect to earn credit in the regular course will be charged only for the time of actual enrollment in classes.

Occasionally those who are especially strong are permitted to earn credits by outside study under the supervision of the teachers. For such credits as these one-half the regular tuition will be charged.

Tuition is due at the opening of each term and settlement should be made with the Superintendent or the Treasurer of the Board of Trustees.

Boarding.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. The cost of boarding and rooms in private families where everything is furnished can be had for $2.50 to $3.00 a week. Rooms both furnished and unfurnished can be had for from 25 to 50 cents a week and table board of excellent quality at the rate of $1.50 for the full week.

Thus persons who may live near enough to go home at the end of each week and who wish to economize may reduce the cost of living to a very small sum.

The following schedule gives a reliable estimate of the cost of a year at Spiceland Academy:

	High		Low
Board, 40 weeks,	$100 00		$40 00 (Short Week)
Room Rent,	20 00		20 00
Tuition,	40 00	(Senior Class)	32 00 (First Year Class
Books,	12 00		5 00
Total,	$172 00		$97 00
